

Terms and Conditions of Service

1. Cancellation Policy

No refund will be provided in case of cancellation or no show unless adequate notice is provided. All bookings must be paid for in full at the time of booking or at the appointment time given. All fees are non-refundable in the event that you are unable to attend. You may however be transferred onto another course or to the same course on a different date (subject to places being available). Classes may be cancelled or postponed by us at any time only when absolutely unavoidable. We will give you as much notice as possible should this happen and you will be able to transfer to another course or a receive full refund. We will not be held liable for any out of pocket expenses incurred as a result.

2. Information Accuracy

While we endeavour to give complete and informative advice and information on our website, we cannot guarantee its accuracy. Where information provided by an instructor or examiner affiliated with CLiK Driver Training is offered, any conflicting advice on our website should be disregarded in its entirety. We also hold and will uphold the right to alter, change or remove any of the information on our website as and when we feel necessary.
